SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

EFFORTS OF SOCIETY PEOPLE TO SPEND LENT PLEASANTLY.

Organization of Classes... Announcements for the Coming Week-Sunday Entertainments Disapproved. General Gossip of the Fashionables.

Never before in the social history of Washington has there been so great a rage for the organization of classes as during the present Lent, There is a French Class, a Class in Emergency, a Reading Class, a Knowledge Class, a Dutch Treat Theatre Class, a Music Class, a Euchre Class, and so on ad in-Jinitum. It remains for THE CRITIC to make the suggestion of adding to the list a Cupid's Class under the guise of a Pedestrian Class in Botany, which, beyond all doubt, would result in several additional weddings at Easter. Already in the mind's eye THE CRITIC can see the young enthusiasts going for | Chandler. long walks in the country, after the unalterable fashion of youth, separating into appreciative couples to rove over the disc-like glory of the dandelion, the corpulent furze of mullen stalks, or indulging in rhapsodies over the cells of delight found in the snow white starry depths of the chick weed blossom.

Wednesday-In the evening Mrs. Dahlgren will have the second of the Authors' Readings, at her residence, at 9 o'clock. There will be four of these meetings and on each occasion ten minutes will be allowed for the reading of a tale and a like period for a poem, both of which must be original with the readers se-lected for the occasion. Notwithstanding the fact that society is eating, drinking and making itself excessively merry during Lent, there is evidenced in official circles a growing disapproval of Sunday entertainments; which, for five or six years past, have been gradually gaining a strong foot-bold in Washington. It is not likely that, during the present Administra-tion, New York will be rivalled in the matter of Sunday evening concerts like those at the Lenox Lyceum, which are followed by suppers at Delmonico's or the Brunswick. The extenuating circumstance descanted upon by the young matrons of society that the demagogues of the home kitchen are proplitated by these feasts at fashionable cafes, is hardly likely to prove as plausible here as in Gotham.

plausible here as in Gotham. The Euchre Club which has met each week during the season at the resi-dences of the various members in the West End has resolved itself into a Dutch treat theatre party during Lent. After attending the theatre, the club will be entertained with a supper at the home of each of the members in turn. Among the number are Mrs. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Thompson Harris, Dr. and Mrs. Alex. Magruder, Lieutenant and Mrs. Riex. magrander, Lieutenant and Mrs. Buchanan, Captain and Mrs. John Rodgers, Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCauley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glover, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hill, Miss Phenix, Miss Smith, Miss Speed and Miss Edle.

Among the guests were Paymaster and Mrs. Brice, Miss Edes, Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. and Miss Payne, Miss Aldrich, Miss Davidge, Miss Blackburn, Miss Condit Szaith, Miss Whitney of California, Miss Holliday of California, Representative and Mrs. Charles Gibson, Admiral Jouett, Captain Carlin, U. S. N.; Mr. Elliott, Mr. Acklen, Mr. Kent and Mr. Ruoff. The party occupied four boxes at "The Gordollers."

The ladies of the Corean Legatlon were out driving in full dress on Wednesday, enjoying the bright sunshine in quaint gowns of primrose pink, their smiling faces almost conpink, their siming faces almost con-cealed beneath the ponderous black fez peculiar to their country. The hus-bands of the diminutive matrons sat opposite, solemnly holding aloft gor-geously-striped parasols, which they had taken the precaution to carefully furl before starting for their drive.

General and Mrs. N. L. Jeffries expect to have as their guests very shortly Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Brown of New York at their handsome residence on Sixteenth street, which has one of the most artistic interiors in Washington. That it does not take the young idea long to shoot after it once gets started, was most amusingly exemplified recently in the case of Mrs. Jeffries' 12 year-old son, with whom she was driving during the holidays. Master Clem, resplen-dent in the uniform of his college, was leaning back in the carriage enjoying the sights of the city when his mother put the question as to how he would like to reside here permanently. After a moment of deep thought the youngster raised a serious face, as he sagely re-sponded: "That is a matter which will depend altogether on what my wife
